

Passione Ricamo ® free Gift "Fairy Celebration III "

The model was stitched on 28 ct lugana fabric "Marbellac Lilac" by Polstitches using Petite treasure braid P366-
Stitch count: 134 x 116 - Finish job about 23 x 20 cm Suggested colour could be all of your fantasy! It's up to you!

I've create this chart to celebrate the Fairies!
Tuesday June 24th 2008 is Fairy Day!

Throughout man's history, Midsummers Day has been known as a time to revel in the magic of nature. It is one of the few "in between" times, when the veil is drawn thinnest and crossing between the worlds is at it's easiest. This day, the longest of the year is known for odd things happening to unwitting mortals, victims of the fairies playful games. It is at this time that fairies may be seen, dancing round rings, or that mortals with the desire and a pure heart may meet a fae out walking in the woods.

Ho creato questo schema per celebrare le Fate!
Martedì, 24 Giugno 2008 è proprio il giorno e la notte delle Fate! Come ricorda Shakespeare, nel suo "sogno di una notte di Mezza estate" che cade appunto il 24 giugno, il velo fra mondo umano e fatato si dissolve e per chi crede, in questo giorno dell'anno così particolare, dove la natura e la magia vibrano nell'aria, è possibile avere incontri con le fate.... Il cerchio che si creerà dalle forze magiche di questo giorno, porterà fortuna e serenità a chi veramente crede...

It is illegal to rechart, modify, kit or reproduce or sell or give away or post in the net, in forums on Ebay or list or email any reproduction of this original chart, instruction and color images in any manner.
"Fairy Celebration III" by Laura Gabutti Lattuada
Released on June 2008
Copyright © 2008 Passione Ricamo ®.
All rights reserved.
Please Support the Original!